Pedestrian Scramble - A signalized intersection where all vehicular traffic is stopped while pedestrians use the entire cycle length to cross the intersection in any direction.

Vision Bicycle Corridor – roadway corridors that would provide bicycle connections between cities across the United States, promote bicycling as a mode of transportation, and guide investment in bicycle facilities to maximize available funding (as defined in the Alabama Statewide Bicycle and Pedestrian Plan).

SECTION 1 INTRODUCTION

In the United States, over 42,915 people lost their lives in motor vehicle crashes in 2021, and approximately 20% of those deaths were vulnerable road users. According to the United States Department of Transportation (USDOT), data for 2021 shows a 13% increase in vulnerable road users deaths compared to 2020.

Vulnerable road users (VRUs) are non-motorists, which includes pedestrians, cyclists, and wheelchair users. Transportation safety for vulnerable road users must be considered due to their lack of protection in the event of a crash. Non-motorists have less than a 50% chance of surviving a crash involving a vehicle traveling at or above 45 mph. Vulnerable road user crashes result in a fatality 11% of the time and severe injury 22% of the time compared to 0.57% and 3.26% (respectively) for all statewide crashes.

A VRU Safety Assessment is conducted to improve the safety of vulnerable road users at the state and local level. The assessment includes identifying high-risk areas for vulnerable road users and consulting with governments, transportation planning organizations, and community groups local to the identified high-risk areas. The purpose of the consultation phase is to obtain local perspectives on factors contributing to safety concerns at the high-risk areas. Stakeholder input can be used to identify strategies to improve the safety of vulnerable road users. This feedback should be incorporated into the future strategies for roadway improvement.

The Alabama Department of Transportation (ALDOT) is committed to improving transportation safety through reducing the risk of fatality and serious injury for VRUs. The purpose of this assessment is to identify and prioritize locations within the state that may benefit from the implementation of safety countermeasures for vulnerable road users and serve as a roadmap to those improvements. This is intended to be a living document and will be updated with each subsequent Strategic Highway Safety Plan (SHSP) update.

Non-motorists only account for approximately 1.76% of crashes statewide; however, 33% of non-motorists involved crashes resulted in a fatality or serious injury.

Alabama Strategic Highway Safety Plan
4th Edition, December 2022

2.1. WHAT IS A VULNERABLE ROAD USER (VRU)?

According to the FHWA definition, a vulnerable road user (VRU) is a non-motorist with a fatality analysis reporting system (FARS) person attribute code for pedestrian, bicyclist, other cyclist, and person on personal conveyance or an injured person that is, or is equivalent to, a pedestrian or pedalcyclist as defined in the ANSI D16.1-2007. (See 23 U.S.C. 148(a)(15) and 23 CFR 490.205). A vulnerable road user:

+ May include people walking, biking, or rolling on a personal conveyance (such as a wheelchair or scooter).
+ Includes a highway worker on foot in a work zone, given they are considered a pedestrian.
+ Does not include a person on a ridden animal, a person in an animal-drawn conveyance, or a motorcyclist.

2.2. VRU SAFETY ASSESSMENT BACKGROUND AND HISTORY

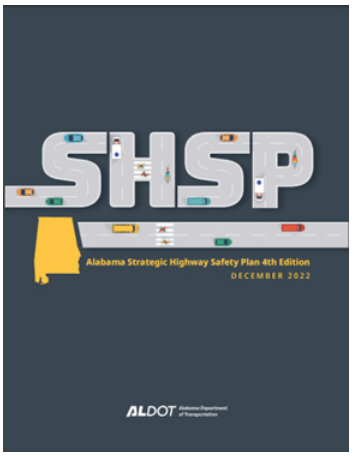

All states are required to complete an initial VRU Safety Assessment and include as part of their State Strategic Highway Safety Plan. The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) was required by the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law (BIL) to develop guidance for states to carry out VRU Assessments. The VRU Assessment must be completed and approved by the Governor or a responsible state agency official designated by the Governor by November 15, 2023.

As part of the VRU assessment, the 2022 Alabama SHSP was reviewed to ensure alignment with the identified goals and emphasis areas.

ALDOT released the latest SHSP 4th Edition in December 2022 with a “top-down” approach that utilized a high-level working group to develop the document. The 2022 SHSP documents progress in transportation safety and identifies fatal and serious injury trends. As part of the Alabama SHSP, seven years of crash data (2015-2021) for crashes resulting in fatal and serious injuries were analyzed. Based on this data-driven analysis, four main categories of emphasis areas for the state were determined. One of these categories was At-Risk Road Users, which includes the Non-Motorists (Vulnerable Road Users) emphasis area. Strategies and action steps were identified for each emphasis area within the SHSP.

2.3. VRU SAFETY ASSESSMENT OBJECTIVES

This assessment is intended to be a guide for VRU project selection and investment strategies. It is also intended to aid in the fulfillment of the Emphasis Area Strategy Action Steps identified in the SHSP for non-motorists (vulnerable road users). The three investment strategies and associated action steps are:

STRATEGY 1: Develop and implement community outreach and communication strategies for both drivers and non-motorists to bring awareness to the severity of collisions involving non-motorists, the responsibilities of all road users, and encourage safe driving and walking practices by coordinating with both traditional and non-traditional partners.

Action Step: ALDOT will engage with local agencies, universities, and non-traditional partners to conduct outreach efforts targeted at issues involving non-motorists. Funding for this effort will come from a combination of HSIP funding, other federal funds and special grants, state and/or local funds, and in-kind matching funds.

STRATEGY 2: Conduct geographically based targeted enforcement of existing pedestrian and bicycle safety laws.

Action Step: ADECA will investigate the feasibility of a system and the most appropriate data to use in order to determine the geographical locations most overrepresented by non-motorist-related crashes that can be mitigated through enforcement efforts and subsequently facilitate increased enforcement efforts in those areas. Funding will be provided through a combination of NHTSA safety program and state funding.

STRATEGY 3: Identify and implement needed infrastructure to support non-motorists based on the context of the roadway and indicators of infrastructure need such as worn paths or other documented evidence of pedestrians (e.g. sidewalks, safe routes to school, rectangular rapid flashing beacons, complete streets concept).

Action Step: ALDOT will engage with local agencies, universities, and non-traditional partners to identify and implement infrastructure projects to support non-motorists. Funding for this effort will come from a combination of HSIP funding, TAP funding, other federal funds and special grants, state and/or local funds, and in-kind matching funds. Refer to Section 7.4 of this document for additional information on funding.

SECTION 3 SAFE SYSTEM APPROACH INTEGRATION

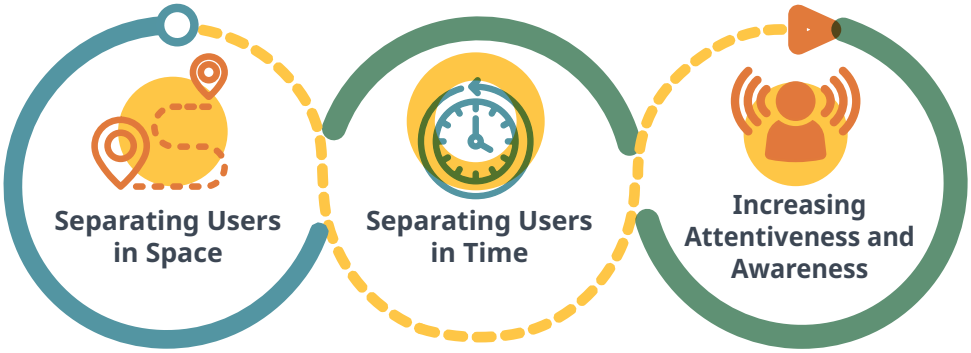

The ALDOT VRU Safety Assessment intends to incorporate the elements of FHWA's Safe System Approach into the projects and strategies that have been identified in this assessment. FHWA is committed to prioritizing safety and reducing transportation-related fatalities and serious injuries on the nation's roadways. One of the ways this commitment is carried out is through implementation of the Safe System Approach. The Safe System Approach is based on the concepts that humans make mistakes and that the human body can only withstand limited impact. Each strategy identified in Section 7 includes a notation regarding the element of the Safe System Approach that it seeks to incorporate.

As shown in the graphic below from USDOT, the six (6) core tenets of the Safe System Approach are as follows:

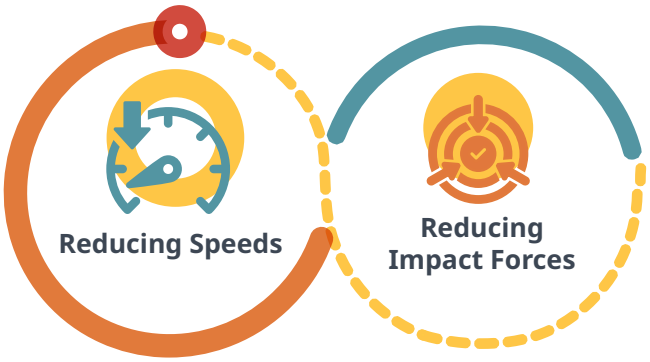

- Death and serious injuries are unacceptable
- Humans make mistakes
- Humans are vulnerable
- Responsibility is shared
- Safety is proactive
- Redundancy is crucial

The SAFE SYSTEM APPROACH promotes anticipating human error by:

The SAFE SYSTEM APPROACH promotes accommodating human injury tolerances by:

The FIVE (5) elements of a SAFE SYSTEM and descriptions of how these elements can be incorporated into plans and projects are as follows:

SAFER ROAD USERS (SAFER PEOPLE)
Prioritize the safety of all road users, including those who walk, bike, drive, ride transit, and travel by other modes.

SAFER VEHICLES
Design vehicles to reduce the occurrence and severity of collisions by incorporating the latest safety technology into the vehicle systems.

SAFER SPEEDS
Promote safer speeds on roadways through appropriate design, signage, outreach campaigns, and enforcement.

SAFER ROADS
Design, construct, or retrofit roadways to promote safer travel, mitigate/accommodate human error, and limit the severity of injuries.

POST-CRASH CARE
Establishing and protecting an efficient emergency response system that allows first responders to easily locate collisions, arrive in a timely manner, stabilize victims, and transport them quickly to a medical facility.

4.1. HISTORICAL SAFETY TRENDS

From January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2021, there were a total of 7,543 crashes reported across Alabama involving vulnerable road users, of which 2,507 resulted in serious injuries and fatalities. This is the same analysis period utilized by the 2022 Alabama SHSP. The following figures (FIGURE 1 - FIGURE 8) contain crash maps and summaries of the data analysis prepared for statewide vulnerable road user crashes, noting how crashes involving vulnerable road users compare to the number of statewide crashes as a whole.

FIGURE 1 displays the number of VRU fatal and serious injuries from 2015 to 2021 throughout the whole state of Alabama. There was a decrease in the number of fatal and serious injuries during 2020, due largely to the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic which resulted in fewer cars on the roadways. There was an increase in fatal and serious injuries in 2021 as the number of vehicles on the road began to increase again. Some agencies have expressed concerns about vehicles continuing to travel at high speeds post-COVID, even though volumes have begun returning to normal levels.

FIGURE 2 illustrates the proportions of VRU fatal and serious injuries that are occurring on urban intersections and roadway segments versus rural intersections and roadway segments. Overall, 56% of the fatal and serious injuries are happening along roadway segments while 44% are happening at intersections.

FIGURE 5 illustrates crash severity by lighting condition. A majority of the VRU fatal and serious injuries are occurring at night or when the roadways are dark.

FIGURE 6 illustrates the VRU fatal and serious injuries by time of day . Fatal and serious injuries happening between midnight and 4 PM are relatively low, averaging about 42 per four-hour time period. Between 4 PM and 8 PM, the number of fatal and serious injuries is nearly double and sometimes triple the number occurring in the other four-hour time periods, depending on the year. From 8 PM to midnight, the number of fatal and serious injuries is also high relative to other time periods while, in contrast, the number of total VRU crashes decreases during this time period. Based on this data, VRUs are at-risk for a more severe crash during nighttime or when lighting is scarce.

4.2. DISAGGREGATE SAFETY TRENDS

FIGURE 8 illustrates VRU fatal and serious injuries by year and includes the percent change per year. ALDOT has an objective of reducing non-motorist fatal and serious injuries by 4% each year. In 2017, this objective was met. It cannot be determined if this objective was met in 2020. The drastic decrease in crashes from 2019 to 2020 is most likely a result of the COVID-19 pandemic due to less traffic on the roadways. Similarly, the large increase from 2020 to 2021 is most likely caused by the dramatic increase in traffic after the pandemic.

4.3. SAFETY PERFORMANCE TARGETS FOR NON-MOTORIZED USERS

The Alabama SHSP identifies five-year average safety performance targets for non-motorist fatalities and serious injuries (combined). The targets are intended to be the goal for the maximum number of fatalities and serious injuries to occur over a five-year period. The targets for 2019, 2020, and 2021 are as follows and are also shown in FIGURE 9 below which is a graphic from the SHSP:

- 2019: 394.0 fatalities and serious injuries
- 2020: 384.0 fatalities and serious injuries
- 2021: 366.0 fatalities and serious injuries

SECTION 5 SUMMARY OF QUANTITATIVE ANALYSIS

5.1. METHODOLOGY

In order to effectively identify and prioritize areas across the state in terms of vulnerable road user safety, High Injury Networks (HIN) were developed. Two (2) separate networks were developed: one (1) for urban roadways and one (1) for rural roadways. A high injury network is a collection of roadways that are considered high-risk to roadway users in terms of fatal and serious injury crashes, socioeconomic factors, and roadway features . The occurrence of fatal and serious injuries indicates an existing issue or pattern of more severe crashes. The socioeconomic factors used in the analysis are indicative populations that are less likely to have access to reliable transportation and would be more likely to be VRUs. The functional classification of the roadway is an indication of the likelihood of the presence of VRUs. VRUs are most likely to be present on local roads and least likely to be present on principal arterials. Therefore, VRU investment in local roads is likely to have the greatest impact.

The methodology used to evaluate roadway segments and develop the high injury network was a quantitative analysis of the number of fatal and serious injuries, socioeconomic data, and roadway characteristics for each roadway segment. An evaluation matrix was created to score the roadway segments based on the point system summarized below in TABLE 1.

METRIC	POINTS
Crash Data	50
One fatality or serious injury	25
More than one fatality or serious injury	50
Socioeconomic Data	30
Transportation Disadvantaged Census Tracts	10
The Climate and Economic Justice Screening Tool (CEQ)	10
Social Vulnerability Index (CDC)	10
XQFWLRQDOOODVVLILFDWLRQ	20
Principal Arterials	4
Minor Arterials	8
Major Collectors	12
Minor Collectors	16
Local Roads	20
TOTAL SCORE

Table 1 Evaluation Matrix

Roadway segments that had more than one fatal or serious injury received a higher score than segments with only one fatal or serious injury. From the FHWA list of approved demographic sources, the Transportation Disadvantaged Census Tracts, The Climate and Economic Justice Screening Tool, and the Social Vulnerability Index were used to evaluate the socioeconomic scores for each roadway segment. If a roadway segment was within the boundaries of one or more of the disadvantaged areas, the segment received the appropriate score using the evaluation matrix in TABLE 1. The last scoring measure was functional classification. Local roads received the highest weighted score while principal arterials received the lowest weighted score. The total score of crashes, socioeconomics, and functional classification was assigned to each roadway segment.

5.2. CRASH ANALYSIS

A database from the Alabama Safety Portal of all reported crashes involving non-motorists occurring from January 1, 2015 to December 31, 2021 was provided by the University of Alabama Center for Advanced Public Safety for purposes of this assessment. The crash database provided crash, driver/vehicle, and person-level attributes. Non-motorist crashes that did not involve vulnerable road users were removed from the crash data. These include crashes involving animal-drawn vehicles, train cars, and fixed objects. The raw data is included in APPENDIX A.

A VRU crash density map for the state was created to show the relative frequency of crashes in areas across the state. Crash density mapping is a way to illustrate where crashes are concentrated in any given area. These maps use interpolation methods to determine where the higher concentrations of crashes are. FIGURE 10 shows a crash density map for all crashes in the state that involved vulnerable road users. FIGURE 11 shows a crash density map for fatal and serious injury crashes only.

Further analysis illustrates VRU crash trends by county and city. FIGURE 12 shows the number of VRU crashes per 1,000 residents in each county. The counties with the highest number of crashes per 1,000 residents were Russell, Mobile, Montgomery, Jefferson, Dallas, and Tuscaloosa.

FIGURE 13 shows the number of VRU crashes per 1,000 residents by city. The cities with the highest number of crashes per 1,000 residents were Gulf Shores, Birmingham, Orange Beach, Anniston, Mobile, Selma, Union Springs, Prichard, Tuscaloosa, and Phenix City. The higher number of crashes in Gulf Shores and Orange Beach is most likely due to the high concentration of tourism in the area.

5.3. DEMOGRAPHICS AND EQUITY

The second evaluation criterion in developing the HIN came from socioeconomic and equity data sources: the Transportation Disadvantaged Census Tracts, the Climate and Economic Justice Screening Tool, and the Social Vulnerability Index. If a roadway segment fell within the boundaries of any of the disadvantaged areas, the segment received ten (10) points for each respective area. The disadvantaged area for each source is shown below in FIGURE 14 through FIGURE 16.

Understanding transportation issues and challenges faced by residents of the state of Alabama begins with understanding the people who live in Alabama. This section provides an overview of demographic trends across the state of Alabama that may affect mobility of residents. All demographic information was from the 2021 American Community Survey (ACS) Five Year Estimate.

The minority population is higher near larger cities such as Huntsville, Birmingham, and Montgomery, as well as in southern rural parts of the state. A third (33%) of the state population identify as a race other than white. The largest minority groups are African American (27%) and Asian (1%). Just under 2% of Alabama residents have Hispanic ethnicity, and 3% identify as two or more races. The minority population across Alabama is illustrated in FIGURE 18.

More than 105,000 households in the state of Alabama – approximately 6% – have no access to a personal vehicle. For residents in these households, access to transit, biking, and walking facilities is critical to travel. The percent of households without access to a personal vehicle is illustrated in FIGURE 19.

A total of 14 counties have no public transit system as shown in FIGURE 20. However, some of these counties are planning to provide transit options in fiscal year 2023. These counties include Chambers, Elmore, Geneva, Limestone, and Randolph. The counties without public transit are mostly located in the southeastern region of the state where there is also a higher concentration of households with no personal vehicle.

Just over 16% of Alabama residents have vision, hearing, cognitive, ambulatory, self-care, or independent living difficulties. Having a connected transportation network is important for residents affected by a disability as driving can be difficult for these residents. FIGURE 21 illustrates the percent of the Alabama population with a disability across the state.

Just under 16% of total Alabama residents live in poverty. FIGURE 22 illustrates the poverty rates across the state of Alabama. The federal poverty level depends on the number of persons in a family. The 2021 federal poverty levels varied from $13,788 for a one-person household to $56,325 for a nine-person or more household according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

Nearly two-thirds of the population in Alabama is 49 or younger. Senior citizens (age 65 and older) make up 17% of the population, and the density of this population is illustrated in FIGURE 23.

Alabama residents that are age 20 – 34 and age 50 – 64 make up approximately 20% of the population each. Residents in the 35 – 49 age group make up approximately 18% of the population. Adolescents (age 19 and under) make up 25% of the statewide population, and the density of this population group is illustrated in FIGURE 24.

5.4. FUNCTIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The third criterion in the HIN methodology is the roadway functional classification. Roadway speed limits are designed based on roadway characteristics such as AADT, lane width, and shoulder width. Typically, higher functional classifications (interstates, freeways, principal arterials) have higher speed limits. Based on the historical VRU crash trends, the probability of a crash resulting in a fatality or serious injury is higher on high-speed roads. Interstates and freeways were not analyzed as part of the high injury network, as VRUs are not allowed to walk or bike on these roadways. FIGURE 25 shows a map of the roadway functional classifications in Alabama.

5.5. HIGH INJURY NETWORK DEVELOPMENT

The high injury network map was created based on the total score of each roadway segment using the methodology in Section 5.1. The statewide high injury network is shown below in FIGURE 26. The roadway segments with the highest scores from the evaluation matrix are red while lowest scoring segments are blue. The high injury network consists of the red segments as well as some orange segments based on local knowledge and confirmed via stakeholder feedback.

6.1. STAKEHOLDER MEETINGS SUMMARY

Stakeholder meetings for this assessment were held in August 2023. Separate meetings were held for each of the five ALDOT regions (North, East Central, West Central, Southeast, and Southwest) and stakeholders were assigned to the region in which they were located. An email survey was sent to the stakeholders prior to scheduling of the meetings to determine their preference of an in-person meeting versus a virtual meeting. The results of the survey indicated that the virtual format was preferred by the majority in all regions, so all meetings were conducted via Zoom.

NORTH REGION

Monday, August 21st, 2023 (10am to 11am)

WEST CENTRAL REGION

Monday, August 21st, 2023 (2pm to 3pm)

EAST CENTRAL REGION

Monday, August 27st, 2023 (12pm to 1pm)

SOUTHWEST REGION

Tuesday, August 22st, 2023 (2pm to 3pm)

SOUTHEAST REGION

Tuesday, August 22st, 2023 (10am to 11am)

The meetings were conducted to present existing crash and demographic analysis to the stakeholders in addition to gaining feedback and local knowledge. The presentation outlined what the VRU assessment entails, historical crash data and trends, and HIN methodology and development. All the stakeholders were shown crash data and trends based on their respective region and were asked a serious of questions related to their top safety concerns, countermeasures that have been effective in their region, improvements they would like to see in their region, challenges to implementing VRU improvements, and the solutions that would help get these countermeasures implemented.

2[(62)6P[(2(56

Representatives from the following stakeholder groups were invited to attend the meetings:

- FHWA
- Metropolitan and Rural Planning Organizations
- City Planners
- Municipal Traffic Engineers
- County Engineers
- Nonprofit Groups
  - United Way of Central Alabama, United Women of Color, Boys and Girls Club, NAACP, etc.
- Groups Supporting Disadvantaged Communities
  - Alabama Institute for Deaf and Blind, Disability Resource Network, Food Bank of East Alabama, Community Kitchens of Birmingham, etc.
- Transit Organizations
- First Responders (EMS, Fire, Police)
- Board of Educations and Universities
- Hospitals
- Bicycle Advocacy Groups

6$)(721(516

From the five shareholder meetings combined, the top three safety concerns were 1) distracted driving, 2) lack of VRU accommodations, and 3) high speeds. Both the Southwest and West Central regions voted that their biggest issue is distracted driving. Southeast reported their biggest issue is the lack of VRU accommodations. North region reported a tie between distracted driving and the lack of VRU accommodations, while East Central voted high speeds as their top safety concern.

According to the overall stakeholder feedback, the two most effective VRU countermeasures are 1) sidewalks and 2) lighting. Road diets and updating pedestrian signal equipment received the next highest number of votes. Countermeasures such as RRFBs, Pedestrian Hybrid Beacons (PHBs), and Leading Pedestrian Intervals (LPIs) are less widely utilized in Alabama and received fewer votes than the more traditional countermeasures.

Stakeholders were also asked, funding aside, what VRU countermeasures they would like to see implemented in their region. The most prominent countermeasure mentioned in each meeting was the installation of sidewalks, followed by bike lanes and better transit options. Many other countermeasures were mentioned such as multi-use paths, lighting, and roadway signage. Some stakeholders noted the desire for more public input and for increased funding to implement projects and solutions geared toward preventing VRU fatalities and injuries.

[illegible]

From all the stakeholder feedback regarding potential barriers to VRU countermeasure implementation, one barrier in particular stood out: funding availability. Funding is obviously a critical component in the implementation of projects and strategies and is often at the forefront of stakeholder discussions. (Section 7.4 provides some details on potential funding sources.) Other barriers mentioned by the stakeholders were a lack of public involvement, a lack of VRU advocacy, prioritization issues, and the lack of buy-in among the public and those in leadership.

29[5D3[0[1??21

Planning for potential projects and strategies is a fundamental step to mitigate the number of VRU crashes. The overall implementation process can be a challenge . Stakeholders were asked what "we," collectively, can do to help get these countermeasures implemented. The most prominent answer was to continue to make VRU safety and accommodations a priority. This can be done in a number of ways, primarily bring awareness of vulnerable road users and prioritize their safety on the roadways. Collaboration among the counties, regions, and the state was another prominent answer. Effective planning and strategic data analysis can help prioritize locations that have the biggest safety concerns and highest cost/benefit ratio throughout the state.

. . . SUMMAR

The stakeholder meetings provided valuable local knowledge and feedback on the specific challenges and barriers facing each region as well as the solutions that have worked well for their jurisdictions. Feedback regarding the HIN was used to further solidify the corridors contained within it. Understanding the needs and priorities of the stakeholders provided the foundation for the selection of projects and strategies within each region. Moving forward, stakeholder input should be sought and incorporated as projects and strategies progress to ensure that local needs are prioritized.

Countermeasures and solutions were selected for HIN corridors in each region based on the existing roadway characteristics, needs of each corridor, and stakeholder input. Strategies that apply broadly to the state as a whole, as well as to the regions, counties, and municipalities contained within the state, were selected based on both stakeholder feedback and the overarching goals of this assessment. It should be noted that these projects and strategies are not meant to be all-inclusive, and projects should be individually evaluated. This list is intended to help agencies prioritize investments and resources and provide a starting point on the road to improved VRU safety in the state of Alabama.

7.1. CORRIDOR SCREENING PROCESS

Each corridor included in the HIN was first screened based on its characteristics in order to prioritize corridors and projects within each region. Corridors were grouped into three tiers according to how they scored in the screening process. The goal of this process was to help ensure that priority will be given to those corridors/projects where the greatest impact can be made for the greatest number of vulnerable road users. This is not to say the second or third tier projects should not be implemented, but only that they are less likely to positively impact and serve as many people as the first-tier corridors. The screening criteria questions used were as follows:

+ Are there any grocery stores/other retail stores on the corridor?
+ Are there any schools or libraries on or adjacent to the corridor?
+ Are there any parks on or adjacent to the corridor?
+ Are there any transit stops on the corridor?
+ Has there been a lack of recent VRU improvements?
+ Is the corridor in a heavy residential area?
+ Is the corridor in close proximity to a Vision Bicycle Corridor (defined in the Alabama Statewide Bicycle and Pedestrian Plan)?

Corridors with "yes" answers to five or more of the criteria questions were grouped into Tier 1. Corridors with three or four "yes" answers were grouped into Tier 2, and corridors with one or two "yes" answers were grouped into Tier 3. For the purposes of this assessment, Tier 1 corridors/projects have been included in greater detail within this chapter and Tier 2 and 3 corridors/projects have been included in APPENDIX B.

The following sections provide a summary of the corridors and projects within each Region.

7.2. PROJECTS

The recommendations in Table 2 should be incorporated for corridors across all regions and tiers on the corridors where the conditions apply.

TABLE 2 – GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

CONDITION	RECOMMENDATIONS
 URBAN CORRIDORS	Unless otherwise noted, review and upgrade/update all pedestrian timings and equipment at signalized intersections to meet current applicable standards. Stripe crosswalks across all side streets where sidewalk exists or is to be installed and/or improve all existing crosswalk striping.
 RURAL CORRIDORS	Unless otherwise noted, consider installing walkable/bikable shoulders on both sides of the roadway throughout the corridor where they currently do not exist. Provide rumble strips on the edge of the travel lanes to help mitigate roadway departures. Enhance edgeline/centerline striping where needed.
 SIGNALIZED INTERSECTIONS	Install pedestrian infrastructure/equipment and stripe crosswalks at all signalized intersections where pedestrian accommodations do not currently exist.
 BIKE LANES	Buffered bike lanes are acceptable for applications where the speed limit is less than 45 mph. Protected bike lanes are preferred for all applications, but particularly where the speed limit is greater than 45 mph. Separated bike lanes are preferred for applications on multilane highways.

SECTION 7 PROGRAM OF PROJECTS AND STRATEGIES

7.3. STRATEGIES

Strategies for improving vulnerable road user safety in Alabama were selected considering the following: the principles of the Safe System Approach, the goals of this safety assessment, and feedback received from stakeholders in each region. The following table summarizes the strategies, the principles of the Safe System approach they seek to incorporate, action steps that can be taken within each strategy, and the party or parties responsible for implementation.

SAFE ROADS

STRATEGY	ACTION	RESPONSIBLE PARTY
Design and retrofit Alabama roadways to mitigate VRU fatalities and serious injuries.	Commit to incorporating VRU accommodations and improvements into each roadway project as much as is practically possible.	ALDOT, local counties and municipalities
	Review and modify existing design guidance (e.g., ALDOT Access Management Manual) to examine the priority given to vehicle level of service over safety.	ALDOT
	Continue implementation of programmed projects (Tiers 1-3) and track progress in subsequent SHSP updates.	ALDOT, local counties and municipalities

SAFE PEOPLE

STRATEGY	ACTION	RESPONSIBLE PARTY
Foster a culture of VRU safety in Alabama through leadership, education, and engagement.	Identify champions within local government agencies that will take responsibility for advocating for VRU safety within their jurisdiction.	Local counties and municipalities
	Develop a Strategic Outreach Plan and toolkit that will focus on educating the public to address issues and problems specific to VRU safety in each ALDOT Region.	ALDOT (Central Office to work with regions)

SAFE SPEEDS

STRATEGY	ACTION	RESPONSIBLE PARTY
Promote safe speeds on Alabama's roadways through context-appropriate design and solutions.	Examine the priority given to vehicle level-of-service on corridors with high VRU activity and take steps to modify the roadway as necessary (i.e., lower design speed, reduce lane widths, implement traffic calming measures, etc.).	ALDOT, local counties and municipalities
Establish targeted, thoughtful enforcement campaigns aimed at protecting VRUs.	Coordinate with local law enforcement officials to increase enforcement efforts in areas with known speeding issues and that also have high VRU activity.	ALDOT, local counties and municipalities

7.4. ALABAMA FUNDING PROGRAMS

+ TRANSPORTATION ALTERNATIVES PROGRAM

The Transportation Alternatives Program (TAP) provides funding for transportation projects that promote safety, increase local transportation options, consider environmental justice, obtain local commitment, and provide community enhancements. Projects that meet TAP's criteria include constructing on-road and off-road trail facilities for vulnerable road users, creating infrastructure projects and systems that improve safety for non-motorists, converting abandoned railroad right-of-way into trails, and adding scenic overlooks to communities.

The Rebuilding American Infrastructure with Sustainability and Equity (RAISE) Discretionary Grant program offers funding for multimodal, multi-jurisdictional projects that accomplish national objectives. These projects, which should have significant local or regional impact, are typically too difficult to support through traditional DOT programs. The flexibility of the program allows funding to go to any public entity managing transportation infrastructure.

Source: https://www.transportation.gov/RAISEgrants/about

+ ALABAMA TRANSPORTATION REHABILITATION AND IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

The Alabama Transportation Rehabilitation and Improvement Program (ATRIP) provides funding for critical projects related to the maintenance of state highways with a focus on public safety and economic growth. The goal of the program is to improve the existing highway system and provide new facilities, when needed, throughout the state.

Through collaboration with ALDOT, the Highway Safety Improvement Program (HSIP) aims to reduce the number and rate of fatal and serious injuries that occur on public roadways in Alabama. HSIP is a core federal program authorized by 23 U.S.C. 148.

The Congestion Mitigation and Air Quality (CMAQ) program invests in projects that consider air quality benefits in its services. The purpose of this program is to meet national air quality standards for carbon monoxide, ozone, and small particulate matter.

+ RECONNECTING COMMUNITIES

Reconnecting Communities Pilot Grant Program seeks to reconnect neighborhoods that have become disconnected by highway and rail systems. The Reconnecting Communities program will provide funding to community planning and construction projects that enhance multimodal transportation while proving better access to jobs, schools, grocery stores, and other community features.

+ SAFE STREETS AND ROADS FOR ALL

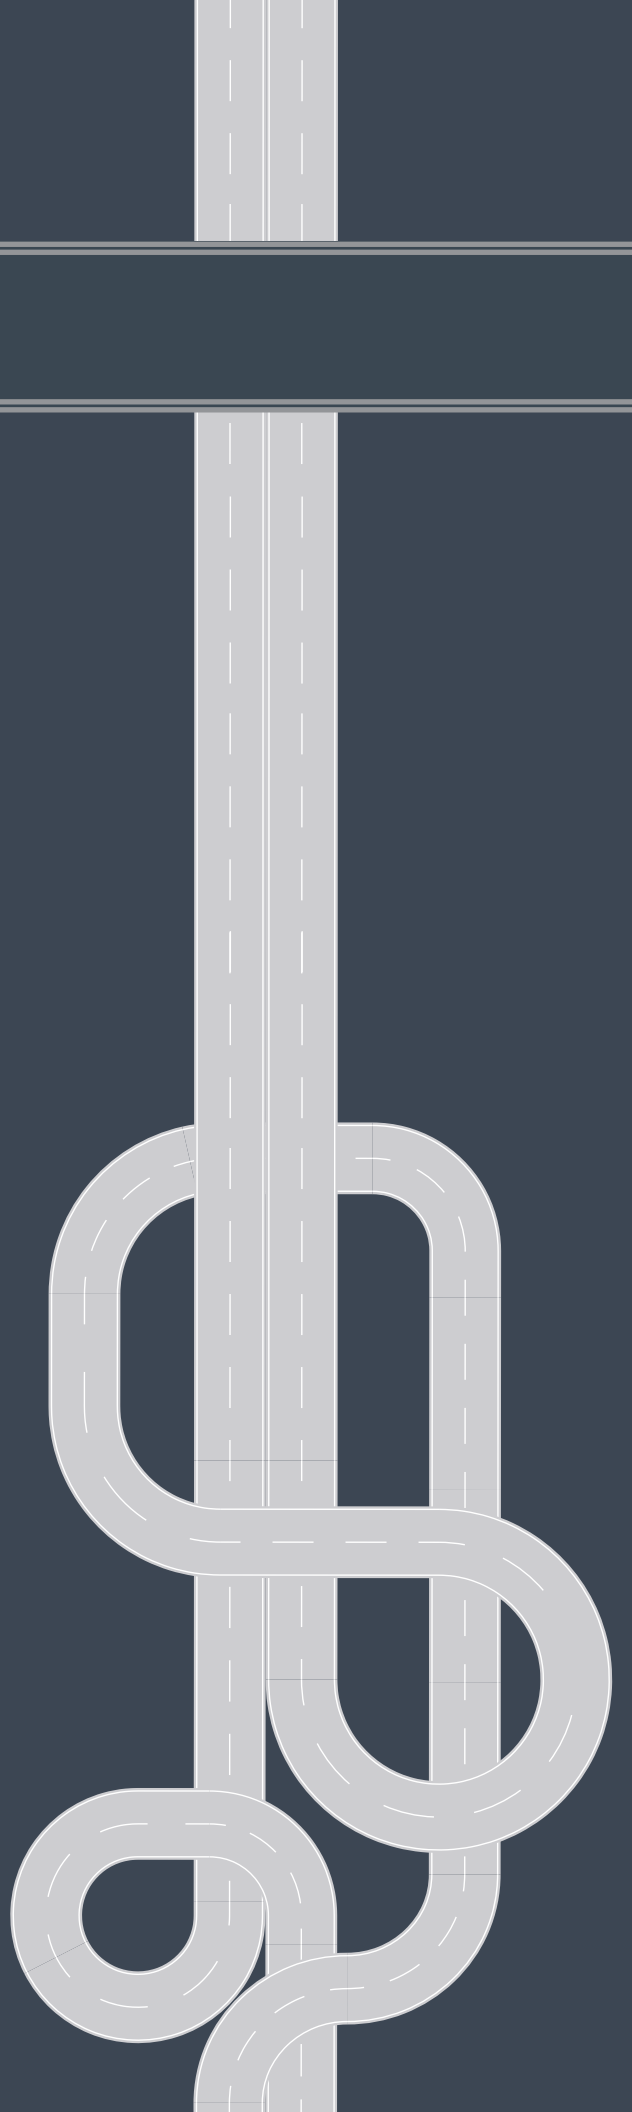

The Safe Streets and Roads for All (SS4A) Grant Program funds regional, local, and Tribal initiatives to prevent roadway deaths and serious injuries. The SS4A program offers Planning and Demonstration Grants and Implementation Grants. Planning and Demonstration Grants are used to develop a comprehensive safety action plan, and Implementation Grants are used to implement the strategies identified in action plans to address roadway safety issues.
