

Alabama Department of Transportation
Product Evaluation Board

Foreword

This manual is intended to serve as both lists of materials, sources, and devices, and the procedures governing the acceptance and use of these materials.

Persons using this manual should read and understand fully all instructions before using any of the products, sources or devices on Department projects. The Department attempts to make this manual as simple as possible, but areas of misunderstanding will arise. Users of this manual should bring any questions or recommendations regarding the manual to the attention of the persons listed under jurisdiction in each individual procedure.
